Visiting the Sick

It is one of the corporal works of mercy to visit the sick. And it is (usually) very much appreciated by the person who is sick. Sometimes though visiting the sick can run into some difficulties, so here are some suggestions that might help.
When you visit:
Don't shout. The sick person is rarely deaf.
Don't talk about the sick person. Talk to them.
Don't have a party around the bed.
Don't stay too long. Five minutes is fine.
Don't whisper in the doorway. It upsets.
Don't tell the sick person about your problems.
Don't exaggerate when you report home.
Don't tell the sick person it could be worse.
Do visit the sick person when they get home.

Niall Mellon Fundraising Update

A sincere thank you to everyone who has supported me in any way so far with the fundraising efforts; in particular Glenamaddy N.S who organised a non-uniform day and all the local ladies who took part in the mini-marathon in Dublin on June 14th—Mary Fahey, Ann Curtin, Nicola & Helena Conneely. Also, Mary Murphy & Cathy Devlin who prepared & fundraised for the marathon but unfortunately could not take part on the day. To everyone who has sponsored the cause—local business and community members—thank you for all your kindness and support. The fundraising work continues until the end of August. Anyone who wishes to support in any way can contact me, Anne Marie Kenny on 086-3558422

East Galway School of Music
The Music School's Wind and Brass Ensemble visit Killarney next week, to take part in the "World Association of Symphonic Bands and Ensembles". This is a festival held around the world, and this year Killarney is the venue for the festival. Concerts and workshops are being held over the week.
The Ensemble is playing twice—in the grounds of Muckross House and in Killarney. 15 of us are going to stay for 5 days, and needless to say, we can't wait!
